The “mythical” river plunges here for 45m from the rift valley wall thus creating the dramatic Murchison Falls, centre piece of the park and final “event” in an 80km stretch of rapids. The mighty cascade drains the last energies from the river and transforms it into a broad placid stream flowing quietly across the rift valley floor into Lake Albert. This stretch of river provides one of Uganda's most remarkable wildlife spectacles.

Kibale's 1450 chimpanzee population of this threatened primate is Uganda's biggest. Additionally, Kibale is home to the uncommon l'Hoest's monkey as well as East Africa's biggest population of the endangered red colobus monkey. (The drive takes about 4 hours/155 km)

Your safari guide will meanwhile drive around to the lodge and will meet you there, so we recommend you pack a little day pack as chances are high that you will arrive before him. A packed lunch will be provided. There is no road through Bwindi so vehicles driving between the two locations have an incredible 170 km bone-jarring journey, taking 5 to 6 hours.

Your arrival in Nkuringo will see you at 2160m above sea level. From the vantage of Nkuringo Bwindi Gorilla Lodge, a 270-degree panorama will hopefully unfold to reveal views of the volcanoes of the Virunga, the western arm of the Great Rift Valley, and a huge swathe of primary forest that constitutes the Bwindi Impenetrable Forest National Park.

The duration of the trek is only determined by the location of the primates on the day of tracking, and the time taken to find the gorillas can take from an hour to a full day, after spotting them, spend 1 hour of viewing and hike back, meet the vehicle and drive back to the lodge.

The beauty of this rainforest is spectacular. The area offers a dramatic, steeply forested landscape and is incredibly dense, but crisscrossed by numerous animal trails, allowing access to tourists. The time taken and the terrain vary as per the movements of these great primates.
